Chandrayaan 3

Soft landing Day

Date: 23 August, 2023

Introduction:

Chandrayaan-3 was proposed to be India's third lunar exploration mission following Chandrayaan-1 and Chandrayaan-2. Chandrayaan-1 was launched in 2008 and played a significant role in the discovery of water molecules on the lunar surface. Chandrayaan-2, launched in 2019, included an orbiter, lander (Vikram), and rover (Pragyan). While the orbiter successfully continues its operations, the lander's attempt to soft-land on the Moon's surface was unfortunately not successful.

Chandrayaan-3 was expected to focus primarily on the lander and rover components, with the goal of achieving a successful soft landing on the Moon's surface. It was anticipated that lessons learned from the Chandrayaan-2 mission would be applied to ensure the success of Chandrayaan-3's landing
